17:12:20 From Gary Hales:
This is for any of you who schedule demo for your home club. Last year I contacted Mat Monaco for an April mini symposium in Alabama and he was glad to agree to the dates and time. This year I have had difficulty connecting Mat , his phone went to answering which was full. We had already advertised the mini symposium and taken reservations from a total of five states. This past week he contacted me in writing only that he had too many international and national symposiums to keep his word to us from a year ago. Beware if you think about contacting him, he turns out not to be a turner of his word.

I want to make sure everyone knows that you do not have to buy the full volumes of the newsletter. The entire print files are available on our web page. They are very large, but you can download the .PDF file and print it for yourself. We decided to use Amazon in order to make it affordable and universally accessible. Printing the .PDF is fairly expensive to do.
