

Turning Point

The Official Newsletter of WorldWideWoodturners.Org

Just you and me in 2023 ?

January 2023

As we begin a new year, we have to ask ourselves “just what is this all about”

I have been asking that same question to myself for a while and I think I know the answer.

As corny as it may seem, it's all about YOU. That's right, YOU. Most of us got into this hobby, habit, or addiction for one reason or another, but how many knowingly got involved because of friendship.

When I created this organization it was to share information about woodturning. The fact that I'd make hundreds of friends in the meantime never entered my mind. But here we are, three years into an organization consisting of turners from all corners of the earth.

I have come to enjoy our Wednesday evening meetings as not only an educational moment, but that of a social moment. One that I don't think I'd ever experience.

I ask that you ask your turning friends to also join in our gathering. I can assure you that they will enjoy it as much as we do.

I hope to see you, and more friends, at our weekly Zoom meeting.

Cap'n Eddie Castelin, Member

(please pardon me, I cannot add names to photos at this time. That will resume soon)

Member's Gallery

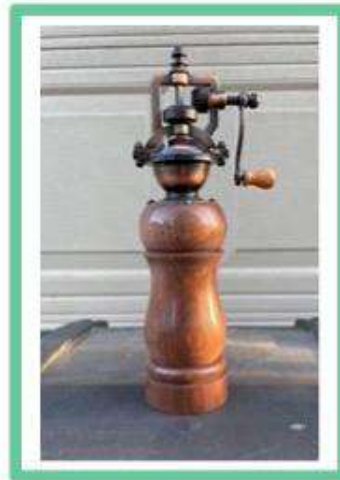

Photos shown in this newsletter were provided by some of World's Greatest Woodturners.

If you would like to be included, send your photographs to:

worldwidewoodturners@gmail.com

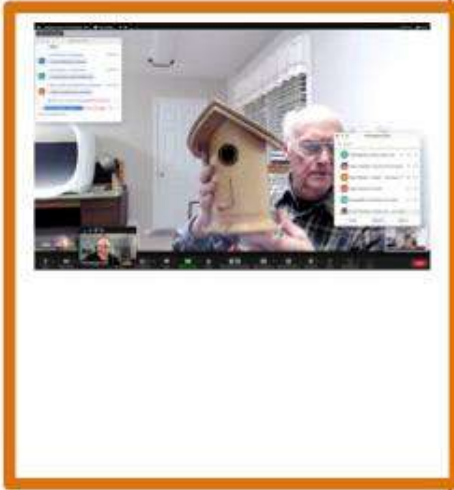

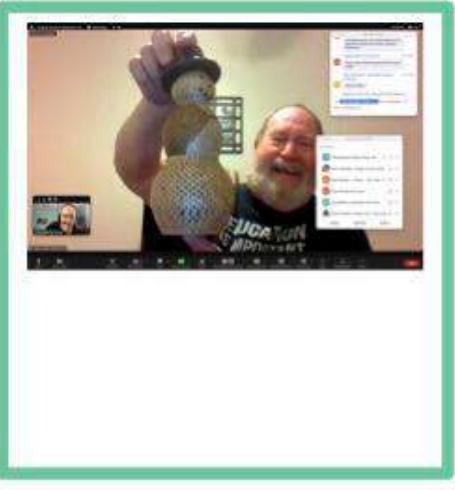

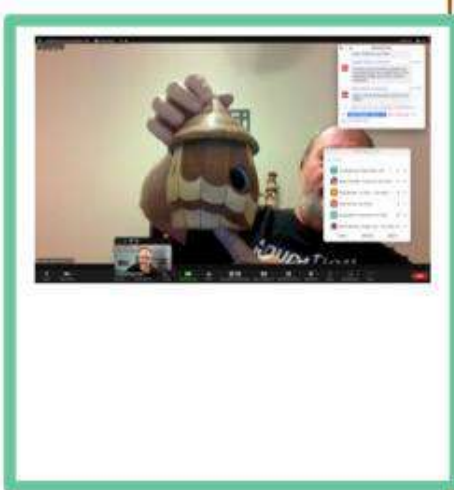

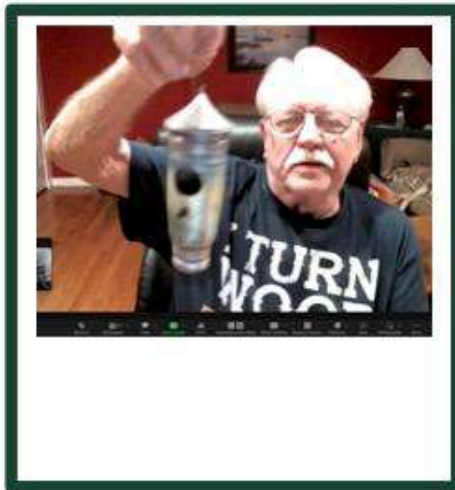

We will accept multiple views of the same project.

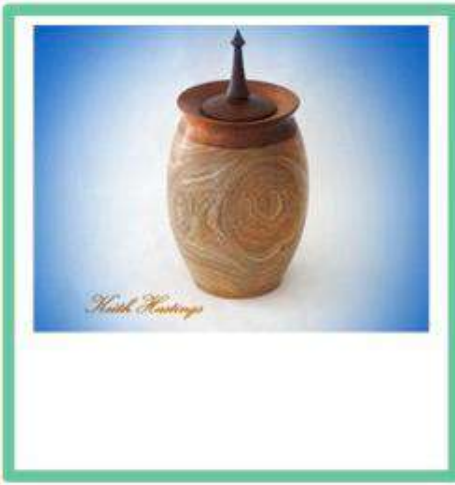

Editor's note:

I must apologize about the layout and presentation of this month's gallery. I'm relearning this system as I go along. I hope to be up to regular standards for the upcoming months.

Many of you know that I experienced brain tumor, probably from my exposure to Agent Orange it in at least 3 bomb dumps. I have experienced these problems in the past and they can be overcome with the proper care and prescriptions.

My medical team is working very diligently to get me back in shape.

Please continue to send your photos to worldwidewoodturners@gmail.com for use in upcoming newsletters.

Thanks for all your support.

Cap'n Eddie Castelin